

COMMUNICATION MATTERS

The Nice Method™ series will teach your audience to:

- Become active listeners
- Lead with acceptance and empathy
- Rethink imposter syndrome and self-doubt
- Learn to think fast on their feet
- Be impactful leaders who leave a legacy
- Discover how not to fear failure and how this leads to innovation
- Grow new business by networking nicely

FEATURING

Radical Retention - Everyone is a leader. Get ready to discover how to hear your people with intent and empathy, avoid the wrecks caused by poor communication and fear, and discover life outside the walls by fostering trust and relationships while supporting your community.

The Master Communicator's Secret Weapon - You will learn to lead with acceptance, actively listen, and not fear failure. Expect plenty of laughs and ah-ha moments during this acclaimed presentation. All audience members receive Dave's communication cheat sheet to help implement the lessons from his secret weapon.

Networking For Nice People - Learn networking principles from Dave's book, New Business Networking, to create new relationships at your event. Dave covers icebreaking, name recall, and active listening, promoting the "three up's" of networking. Networking ensures a better experience, loyalty, and word-of-mouth referrals, making Dave's strategies effective and entertaining.

All audience members receive a free digital copy of The Nice Method.

Dave Delaney is the founder of Futureforth and author of the acclaimed books, "New Business Networking" and "The Nice Method." Delaney is a popular speaker and trainer on corporate communication, leadership, and professional networking. He is a communication connoisseur and the creator of The Nice Method™.

His presentations are humorous, educational, and engaging for in-person and virtual events of all sizes. Delaney works with companies, conferences, and organizations like Google, LinkedIn, UPS, FedEx, American Marketing Association, SXSW Interactive, MPI, SHRM, HFMA, Hubspot, HealthStream, HCA, and many more.

"Dave blew me away (as well as the audience)...an amazing speaker."

LinkedIn

"Exceeded our expectations... His speech was authentic, informative and very well received by our audience."

"...I highly recommend including Dave in your conference workshop lineup. He really knows what he's talking about."

"An incredible public speaker!"

"...one of the most effective and memorable sessions."

"A true professional joy to work with."

"He knows his stuff. If you have an opportunity to work together, it will be worth it."

🌲 The Root Down is a keynote presentation with an ADHD-inspired process to know, respect, and connect yourself.

Embark on a journey of self-discovery, self-embrace, and collective unity, leaving your audience, whether wired conventionally or divergently, infused with inspiration, a sense of accomplishment, and a newfound kinship that banishes solitude. Return from the forest feeling enlightened, empowered, and entertained.

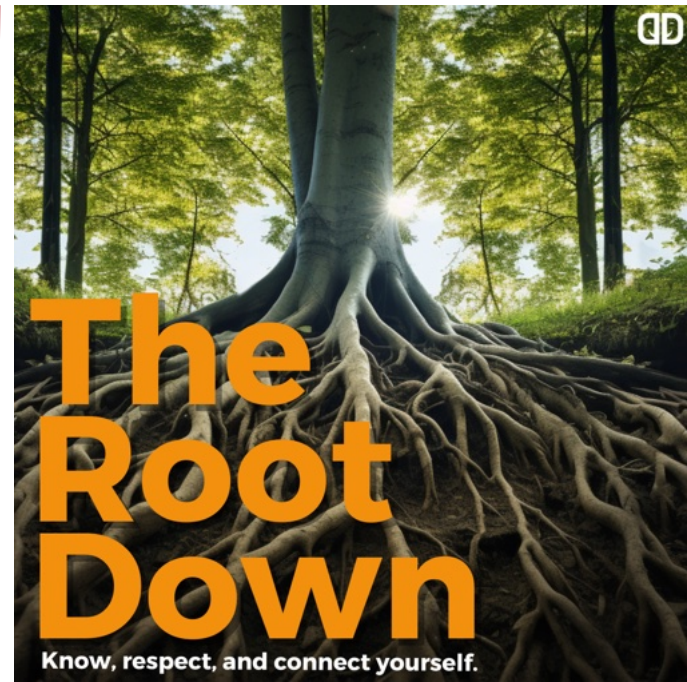

Approximately eight million Americans have ADHD. Less than 20% of adults know they have it. While ADHD presents challenges, individuals with ADHD often possess unique strengths and abilities. These can include creativity, out-of-the-box thinking, high energy levels, resilience, and a knack for multitasking. Many successful entrepreneurs, artists, athletes, and leaders credit their ADHD traits for their accomplishments, emphasizing the potential for success and achievement.

The Root Down was created by acclaimed keynote speaker Dave Delaney, who shares his personal story of being diagnosed with ADHD at fifty, giving audiences a fresh perspective and tools to use regardless of whether they are neurotypical or neurodivergent. There's something here for everyone, from saplings to mighty oaks.

Companies should recognize neurodiversity in their DEI strategy. The Root Down will inspire your team to connect and embrace each person's strengths in fresh ways. Get ready to transform your group.

Mental Health Matters.

Inquire today to embark on this remarkable journey of self-discovery, where your audience's roots will intertwine with the depths of their essence, propelling them towards a life of fulfillment and purpose. Get Root Down to elevate your understanding, harness your inner strength, and leave the forest forever transformed.

🌲 Know yourself. Unleash your hidden superpowers through a unique technique designed to reveal your true potential. Gain the confidence to recognize, embrace, and leverage these extraordinary abilities to achieve unparalleled success.

🌲 Respect yourself. Harness the power pen, paper, mind, and breath. Witness the transformation as self-respect blooms, paving the way for deep self-love. Embrace a newfound sense of worth and grow outward, inspiring those around you.

🌲 Connect yourself. Discover the staggering impact of social disconnection and the perils of loneliness. Arm yourself with the essential steps to connect with a supportive community, banishing isolation and forging deep and lasting relationships.

